[Turin (Nov. 8) correspondence of London News.]

The Marquis Sauli, Serdinan Minister at St. Petersburg, a man of considerable learning and a friend of liberal principles, is at present here. He affirms without hositation that during the two years of Alexander's reign Russia has been enabled not only to congratulate herself on the commencement of the emancipation of the Serfs, but on a general progress and reform in everything. He says, indeed, that the moral status of the Russians has undergone a profound alteration, and could now scarcely be recognized for what it used to be; and this improvement has been effected notwithstanding that all the official posts of any consequence, and all the most coveted dignities of the State, remain still in the hands of the creatures of Nicholas, who, during his reign of twenty years, did nothing else than to stamp his own inexorable will upon everything and mould all men to his own shape.

The Marquis Sauli has now apprised the Ministers of the speedy arrival in Piedmont of the Grand Duke Constantine, whose resentment against Austria is expressed upon every occasion in phrases of a soldierly frankness and energy.

It was lately asserted by an Austrian journal that the

It was lately asserted by an Austrian journal that the port of Villairanca being unfit for large vessels of war, the Russian government was in treaty with that of Sardinia with a view to obtain a more convenient naval station at Spezzia. I am enabled completely to deny this assertion. Not only has Russia neither procured nor requested any concession in the Guiff of Spezzia, but sha has not yet even asked for the keys to be delivered to her of the places at Villafranca, of which she has been allowed a friendly and temporary loan.

Lord Eigin is still at Shanghae waiting the arrival of the Chinese Commissioners, who were expected about the first week in October, but there does not appear to be any reliable information that they have positively even left. Pokin.

We learn that as soon as Lord Eigin has arranged the tariff at Shanghae with the Commissioners, it is his intention to come down here, with a view of coming to some understanding with the authorities at Canton. His lord-ship has not deputed any one to interfere at the present juncture; and should, as it is said, improvement in the state of matters at Canton depend on his lordship's presence, we cannot look forward to change occurring for some time.

PROGRESS OF THE FRENCH IN COCHIN CHINA—AN-NEXATION OF TURANE AND THE WAR TO BE CAR-HIED INLAND.

A declaration issued by Admiral de Genouilly has appeared in the Government Gazette, that the bay and river of Turane and the port of chang Callao are held in a state of effective blockade by the inaval and military French forces. It appears to be the desire to keep the proceedings at Cochin China from the knowledge of the public, as the accounts received by the chartered British steamer Scotland, just returned from Turane, are very meaging. We learn that the combined force of the French and Spaniards took the forts on the river of Turane without resistance, and had landed. It is reported that there was a great scarcity of provisions, and the Scotland is to return at once with supplies. The agent of the French Government, it is stated, is anxious to procure steamers of light draught of water, to assist in presecuting hostilities inland. From what we hear, it is probable the Cochin Chinese will attempt but a passive resistance, which is likely, more than any other cause, to prolong the difficul-

We have heard on reliable authority that its first appearance was after the arrival of an American man of-war at Nagasaki, on board which vessel a case occurred, and in communication with the shore no precautionary quarantine regulations were observed. This happens at an untorunate memory and has raised prejudices in the minds of the Japanese against foreigners, and we hear that the Russians and Dutch have since been very ill received in consequence. THE LONDON MONEY MARKET.

[From the London Times (city article), Nov. 13.]
The English funds opened with firmness this morning (12th), and were steady throughout the day, but with a less favorable tendency at the close. Consols for money were first quoted 98½ to ½, and the ultimate prices were 68% for money and 88½ to ½, for the 7th of December. There was little activity in any department of business, and sales slightly preposderated. Money was again freely supplied on government securities at 2 per cent. Bank stock left off at 225 to 227; reduced, 96½; India stock, 25 to 227; exchequer bills (March) 33s. to 33s., (June) 28s. to 31s. premoun.

In the discount market to day there was an increased demand, and the rate was 2½ to ½.

In foreign stocks Peruvian continue to advance almost daily, the descriptions which have improved to day being the Uribarren and Isoliar bonds; the former have been negotiated at 86, and the latter at 83.

The closing prices of the French three per cents on the Paris Bourse failed to arrive this evening, but transactions took place at the opening at 74f, 20c. for the end of the month, showing a further advance of an eighth.

The monthly return of the Bank of France published this morning is not more unfavorable than had been anticipated from the drain of specie to Germany. The falling off has been $220,000 (last month it was £1,770,000), and the total now held is £21,000,000. The note circulation, which was largely increased last month, remains without alteration. The discounts show a further augmentation of £700,000, and in the deposits of the public and the government there is a diminution respectively of £122,000 and £470,000. The large addition made last month to the advances on Rentes has been followed by a reduction of nearly £500,000, but in those on railway shares there has been an increase of £120,000.

Business in the railway market has been chiefly confined to a few operations by the dealers, and the prices at four o'clock showed little alteration from the corresponding quotations of yesterday. In American securities the bonds of the Pennsylvania Central were firmer. A partial relapse occurred in Canada government debentures.

During the ten years I have had the honor to represent a pertion of the people of South Carolina the waves of fanaticism have rolled with fearful effect throughout the country and in this, the capital of the nation. Until the present time they have been successfully resisted, and I hope there will always be found conservation and patriousm enough to put out the fires of sectional strife, and that concord and harmony will again be restored to the country. (Loud cheers.) We ought to be one people: we were incorporated into an independent government under the auspices of as pure and patriotic men as ever lived. Wise men framed and put the government into operation, and it their work fall, where are the men to be found competent to rear a structure like this gigantic temple dedicated to liberty, which I trust your posterity and mine will be able to defend under all circumstances? (Entusiastic appliance.) The inchemency of the night forbids my trespassing longer upon your time. I thank you heartily for this expression of your kind feelings towards me; and permit me, in addressing you perhaps for the last time, to conclude with a quotation from the great Webster: "Liberty and union, now and forever, one and inseparable." (Loud and long continued cheering.)

DAMAGES AGAINST THE CORPORATION.

Nov. 24.—Margaret S. McNair es. the Mayor, dc —This was an action for $200—the value of a trunk of clothes damaged through the alleged negligence of the Corporation. The plaintiff, in company with a party of friends, was going to Saratoga, in August, 1856. At Spring street pier one of the wheels of the vehicle in which the party pier one of the wheels of the vehicle in which the party were broke through one of the planks, thus causing the coach to incline to one side. Three trunks were precipitated into the river from the top of the vehicle; one belonged to the plantiff. The trunks were taken from the water, but the contents were damaged.

Counsel for the Corporation moved for a non-suit, on the ground that the defendants were not liable for any accident that might occur in consequence of a public way being out of repair.

The Court denied the motion. The Corporation should be held liable as well as an individual, and the jury should determine whether proper care was exercised to prevent casualties.

the one side and the other of this great combat, and wrestle with each other till the better or the worse prevails. Fisher Ames said a very wise thing when he said that "there's no such thing as blowing a barrel of gunpowder baf way down." This has been the endeavor of the republican party hitherto. It has not succeeded yet, and it never will, except by effectually dampening the explosive particles, and thus destroying its own means to succees. And so the temporizing policy of the Northern democracy may delay for a season the direct encounter of their antagonist principles by mouding of some Northern doughflace, of a more yielding consistency than Douglas, into the form and pressure of a candidate.

In all this we see the results of twenty-five years of pereistent anti-slavery agitation conside of the political arena. The general mind of the North has been stimulated by the incessant application of anti-slavery truth, in Chuich and in State, in public and in private, until it is aroused to an unexay sense of guilty responsibility toward the slaves and to an unexay story graching after some way of relief. The political remedy is the first that offers the first that offers and is lead hold of the somest. Hence the growth of the republican party; and because of this its growth cannot be stayed, in one shape or another, until it has proposed by Mr. Seward, can be effectual to destroy slavery, we ment seriously doubt. But we know that, in the nature of things, this experiment mput be tried in its order, and we may righteesily rejoice that its ura has come so. We shall watch its progress with profound interest, assured that it is a necessary stage in the development of our destines. If it can procure, by indirection, the abolition of slavery, we will rejoice but if, as we apprehend, it cannot, we believe that it must prepout the way for the only sufficient cure—the withdrawai of the Northern States from the confederacy, and the formation of a more perfect Union, with no blood for the cement.

SHOP POTTER LAVING THE CORNER STONE OF THE NEW BUILDING—THE CEREBONY—GENERAL INFOR-

MATION OF THE SOCIETY. Between one and two hundred of the clergy, laymen nd ladies of the Protestant Episcopal church, principally residents in Kings county, assembled Thursday afternoon to witness the laying of the corner stone of the "Home for the Aged and Orphan House," now being erected about three miles from Brooklyn, near the Fulton Avenue Railroad depot, by the Church Charity Foundation Society. The clergy, the managers, associates and members of the corporation, and all the friends of the charity, were respectfully invited to attend; but the chilling winds kept to the carpet many who were counted upon, and kept to the carpet many who were counted upon, and only the above number vettured to face the more than invigorating air outside of the cry of Brocklyn.

At three o'clock the Bight Rev. A. Former, Provisional Bishop of the discress, commenced the services for the occasion by reading the 140th Pasim, after which he mounted the scaffolding to lay the foundation stone, and was there surrounded by the following clergymens—Eevs. Jacob W. Dilier, B. V. M. Johnson, T. T. Gulon, A. Guion, J. A. Paddock, W. A. W. Maybin, Mr. Putnam, H. A. Spatard and Mr. Gardiner.

Bishop Forms offered prayer, asking further assistance and protection in the prosecution of the charitable work that they had commenced.

Before laying the corner stone, the Rev. J. W. Ditter, of St. Linke's, read the following list of books and documents deposited under it.—The Holy Bible, the book of Commen Prayer, a copy of the certificate of incorporation, April, 1843; a copy of the critical of incorporation, April, 1843; a copy of the articles of association and by laws, copies of various publications of the corporation—rules of order, the appeal, form of indenture, &r.; a list of the elergy of Brooklyn, New York and neighborhood; the names of the building committee, the architects and the buildiers: a copy of the Church Aimanse, for 1858; copies of the Churchman, Church Journal and Protestant Churchman.

The builder having spread the mortar and placed the stone in its position, the Rishop continued the services, and taking the builder's mailet in his right hand tapped it three times, saying: "In the name of the Father, the Son and of the Hory Ghost, I lay this correr stone." Following this he offered appropriate prayer, and the Rev. T. I. Gues, of St. John's, read a pertion of the Psalter. The latter gentleman afterwards made an excuse for the absence of Dr. Lewis, the President, from sickness, and then delivered a very suitable aldress—very happily alieding to the cold weather, instructure the affinent present to be grateful for their leavines and to spare from their abundance a few conforts for the poor. He was strongly practical, and assured his Christian brethren and sisters that they could never count upon rewards for what they thought or what they fell for the poor, but for what they did for them.

Rev. J. W. Billier next spoke upon the character of the institution—The Church Charsty Foundation—what they pare and decise for their own poor, and their intention of being the dispensers of their was charity by erecting such buildings for the aged and the orphan, instead of sending them to the poor house.

The audience joined in singing "Gory be to God" &c., and the services terminated with a benediction from the lishop.

Though the audience was smal it was of the best class for the occasion—influential laymen and zeajous ladies. Full a score of the orphans were present, very comfortably clad and evidently intended to give evidence of the "good work" in which they were engaged.

The present building is expected to be finished and ready for occupation by the 1st of May next. It is 150 feet long by 60 feet broad, and is to afford accommodation for thirty aged indigent ladies and forty orphans, and all the employes of the establishment, likewise a school and church for the accommodation of the inmates and the in habitants of the neighborhood. When an increase of funds is on band and a greater demand for accommodation is made, there will be an enlargement of the wings of the building, as they are constructed with a view to that contingency. The ground on which this building is being crected is part of twenty-three lots which have been purchased by the society for $7,000, which sum has been collected and paid for it. The building is to cost $18,250, of which sum upwards of $6,000 has been collected; the remainder is yet to be collected.

The society rents at the present time two small three story houses on Carlton, near Fulton avenue, where they have the charge of seventeen aged women, only three of whom are under seventy years of age; four are between eighty and ninety years and one has reached four soore years and ten. The number of children is twenty-four. The orphans are admitted between the age of two and eight years without fee, and there remain till prepared for service or for apprenticeship; but the aged ladies are admitted only upon the payment of $50 entrance feenou under fifty years of age and of good moral character; in short, the Protestant Episcopal church is systematizing its charity, and providing for those on whom fortune frowns in old age and in helpless childhood.

The supply consisted chiefly of inferior to common cattle, with a lesser number than last week of good cattle. In fact there were no good cattle on sale, and first class butchers were obliged to purchase very ordinary cattle. The demand for first class cattle was very active indeed, and the few on sale brought 9½c.a 10c. per pound very readily. The average price could not have exceeded 7½c. at all the yards, and there was a large number sold at 5½c. a 6½c. The attendance was very large, especially of first class butchers, who are entirely out of beef, and who have been holding back to the latest possible moment, in the vann hepe of being able to obtain good cattle. Last week there were but few good cattle on sale, and they were quickly bogght up. To-day there were less than last week, while the demand was greater. As a matter of course, there was a great deal of dissatisfaction manifested in consequence of the inferior quality of the offerings of the last few weeks, and some of the largest dealers have sent agents out West for the purpose of purchasing a supply of fat cattle for the holidays, preferring the certainty of imparting satisfaction to their customers, even at a great expense, by obtaining such beef as is in greatest demand, rather than trust to luck and chance, for there is no certainty that there will be any better cattle on sale at the city yards previous to the last of January, and the demand for first class beef and fancy cattle is more active at this season than at any other. The yards were in a muddy state, and it was almost impossible to enter them without obtaining a pair of wet feet. The receipts during the past week have been larger than usual, and cows can now be bought at cheaper prices. There were only a few extras, which sold at over $50, and the average price was about $35 per head.
